I believe we should have trained teachrs on salaries in our Sunday schools." That is the opinion held by the Rever-nd Doctor William Short, paster of St. Pe-'s Episcopal Church, Spring avenue and Lindell boulevard.

"I believe it is a necessity," he said to a reporter for The Republic, "unless we can d teachers willing to give their time and attention to fitting themselves for properly nstructing children in Bible truths. It is ifficult to find them. Many are willing and do volunteer their time and money in be work, but we need more like them. The best way to get them, in this worl; where we all have to work for a living, is to per them. If we do that, then they can afferd to take that training necessary to do such important work."

to take that training necessity to do such important work."

Discussing the methods now in practice in Eunday schools, Doctor Short said:

"The methods of Sunday school work in the churches in this country are not what they should be. Our Sunday school work has been conducted in a very haphazard way. Our methods are the poorest.

"Our teachers have no km Medge of pedagogy. We have scarcely any religious denomination that has formulated clearly what it desires to teach.

"We are behind in our religious instruction in this country behind any other prominent country in the world.

"Germany gives religious instruction in its primary and grammar schools. Engand also has religious instruction for in marvance of ours.

"We are the poorest instructed in Bible truths, as a people. But, I say this, in the impartation of sciritual aspiration our teachers, although they are poor in imparting Bible truths, have done as well as the teachers of any other ration.

"I have been interested for several years," continued the doctor, "in trying to see what could be done to better the effectiveness of our sunday-school methods. I have been in ur Sunday-school methods. I have b

The next morning the alarm was given,

Letters That Caused Trouble.

John Yocum, the young man to whom Alice wrote the love letters which caused the quarrel with her relatives, was on the witness stand to-day. He knew nothing of the murder, but was allowed to tell in his own way the story of his acquaintance with Alice.

The trial is held in a grove, the two Justices sitting behind a table under a tree with large spreading branches, the four accused persons sitting at the left, the lawyers at the right and the neighbors searched all day, all that night and the next forenoon for her. Wednesday at noon her bodggwas found in the river near a large rock As to how the girl was killed was pure guesswork.

Many believe that when Alice left the house to go for firewood her path led through a ravine and then past a clover field where the two stepbrothers were feeding their mules. There she was attacked, and, when she resisted, was killed in the struggle to preserve her honor.
